In parallel with the release of the new NHP Price List Catalogue, we will be implementing a weighted list price adjustment across our product portfolio. This is in line with an ever increasing competitive market environment and the necessity to maintain our quality product and service promise - a promise that we are proud to have delivered to our local markets for 50 years and are committed to continuing moving forward.

NHP endeavours to always provide our customers with easily accessible content via an advanced digital infrastructure constantly evolving to adapt to the ever changing industry. In saying this, one of NHP's digital platforms in particular empowers customers to make informative decisions, allowing them to then place orders online. NHP's online portal has a number of great features that allow registered users to check price and availability of the NHP product portfolio, in addition to being able to review open quotes plus access a wealth of technical data.
